DECISIONS WITHHELD.

Judge Waller Hears Two Cases in Common Pleas Court.

A suit of replevin with Deputy Sheriff J. H. Tubbs as defendant was heard Tuesday morning in the court of common pleas in this city. Benjamin Cherkasky of Benjamin Cherkasky & Co. of New London was the plaintiff. Judge Waller reserved decision. The suit originated from the seizure of a horse and wagon owned by Harry Weinstein, a peddler of New London. The attachment was made to satisfy a claim of Nicholas P. Robinson against Weinstein for $48 rent. Cherkasky claimed the horse and wagon was not Weinstein's but his and brought the suit of replevin against Sheriff Tubbs to recover same.

On Monday the case of G. E. Pitcher vs. the Christ Church corporation was tried before Judge Waller and decision reserved.

Mr. Pitcher had gone security for John Paracenti & Co. on this and other jobs and it is claimed that the money due the firm had been made over to him. The job was completed by A. N. Carpenter and he attached the money due the firm.

The firm contracted to build a wall in the rear of Christ church and also to repair the sidewalk for the sum of $175 and the money was not to be paid until the work was done. The suit was to decide to whom the money should be paid.

C. L. U. Realized $60.
The regular meeting of the Central Labor union was held Tuesday evening in their hall, called to order by the president, Justin Leonard. Walter H. Spaulding was secretary. The principal business was a report from the tickets sold on Labor day for the New London county fair. A complete report was made and the money all turned in, by which it was shown that the C. L. U. made $60, which is a larger sum than realized in the same way last year.

AUTOPSY REVEALED NO FOUL PLAY

Body of Mrs. Arthur Tetraault Brought to Taftville—Watch, Chain and Umbrella of Husband are Missing

The body of Mrs. Arthur Tetraault arrived in Taftville from Providence Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. Alfred Tetraault, brother-in-law of the unfortunate young woman, found unconscious in the Narragansett hotel Wednesday evening, having been overcome by illuminating gas, accompanied the remains of the bride of 20, who survived her husband by less than five days. The body was taken from the train to the home of her parents at 45 South A street by Undertaker Grant. The funeral will be held on Thursday.

Frank Marcoux, father of the young woman, and Alfred Tetraault, left Taftville Monday morning at 9 o'clock for Providence. They arrived at the Rhode Island hospital at 11.45, twenty-five minutes after she had breathed her last. Mr. Marcoux was greatly affected and returned home that night. Mr. Tetraault notified the police authorities in Providence Monday afternoon that money, a watch, chain and umbrella belonging to his brother were missing. The sum of $51, which was found on the young man Wednesday evening, was handed over to Mr. Tetraault at the hotel office, where it had been placed for safe keeping. The money, heavily coated, was at first supposed to amount to $50, but a second count showed the error. It is not known just how much money the couple started off with and the sum recovered, probably the right one, but the other articles are missing. The medical examiner found none of the articles when he arrived. The umbrella was gone also.

On the suspicion of possible foul play that has gained ground, an autopsy was held Tuesday morning. No trace of any poisoning except that of gas could be detected, making accidental death the only possible explanation.

Everything has been done to clear away the mystery that surrounds the double tragedy, and the matter of the missing valuables will now, in all probability, be dropped. The relatives of the unhappy couple are satisfied that their death was purely accidental.

Tuesday's Providence Journal said: Upon receiving word of Mrs. Tetraault's death, Alfred Tetraault, her brother-in-law, came to this city yesterday. He entered a complaint at the central police station to the effect that a watch, chain and umbrella that his brother had when he left Taftville were missing. The watch was valued at $30, the chain at $5 and the umbrella at $2.

The medical examiner who investigated the case said he found neither watch nor chain in the young man's pockets. The official said he would have taken these in charge had he found them, but that he would not have taken the umbrella. He did not recall seeing anything of an umbrella, either, however.

At the Narragansett hotel it was stated that after the finding of the young couple, the husband dead and the wife unconscious, by employees of the hotel, the medical examiner and the police were allowed in the room, which was locked as soon as the investigation of those officials was concluded. Nothing was known concerning the watch and chain the umbrella by the hotel management.

CUT STONE ARRIVING FOR ACADEMY BUILDING

Twelve Hundred Pieces in All to Go Into Structure—Other Notes.

Much of the stone work for the Academy building, which comes from New Haven, is now arriving and is being laid out on the front lawn at the Academy. There are 1,200 pieces of cut stone altogether to go into the building. Four hundred pieces have already been set among the latest being a piece at the front door way which has delayed the work there by its non-arrival. This can now be finished without further delay.

J. F. Harston & Co. have the temporary seven hours for the Ponce-nath company in Taftville. C. Morgan Williams is the general contractor. Men are at work erecting the walls for the fourth story of the Shannon building, the fourth floor having been poured and many of the steel window frames which have been delayed are now here. At Mr. Shannon's hotel the steel work is being put in so that the first floor can be poured there soon.

At the property of D. T. Shea in Main street, the house has been propped up and Contractor Williams is removing more of the ledge. Some of the foundation wall has been put in. The job is proving a lengthy one.

In the estate of Robert Breckenridge, James S. Temple has been named as administrator and as appraisers James C. Fitzpatrick and Vine S. Stetson have been named by Judge Ayling.

Administration has been taken out on the estate of Mr. Jacob Stark-weather and her brother, Orrin L. Starkweather, has been named administrator. Ezekiah Perkins and Alonzo R. Aborn are named as appraisers. This estate, it is expected, will amount to between $14,000 and $15,000.

OBITUARY.

Patrick Morris.

Patrick Morris, who was 91 years old last Saturday, Sept. 18th, passed away at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning at No. 225 South Thames street where he lived with his daughter, Mrs. P. H. Welch. For the past month he had been gradually failing, due to his extreme age. Mr. Morris had not been confined to his bed by sickness a single day in his life, and retained all his faculties, except his acute hearing, up to within a short time of his death.

Mr. Morris was born in Roscommon, Ireland, on Sept. 18, 1818, one of the eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Morris. Mr. Morris was a stone mason in his native land, and at one time narrowly escaped death while blasting on the Shandon river, a fellow workman who was standing a few feet away being instantly killed.

In 1850 Mr. Morris came to New York, and the following year, in January, to this city, where he has since lived. Among buildings he has worked on at his trade are the Wauregan house, Broadway school and the Free Academy. At the Broadway school he was buried in a vase in and dug out unconscious, but he recovered through his strong constitution.

In New York city in 1858, Mr. Morris was married to Miss Anne Cassidy of this city. Their children were two in number, Mrs. P. H. Welch and Andrew Morris of New London. Mr. Morris died in this city Feb. 16, 1888.

He had lived for 45 years in the same place on South Thames street, having given the street that name. For 21 years he worked in the old mill in Taftville, but for the last 15 years he had been retired. During this time he was both tender on the West Side at elections for a number of years but had to give this up as his hearing failed.

He had a remarkably keen memory and was a strong believer in walking, never missing a day in going into the city when he was able. For over 70 years he had used tobacco, which he thought never did him any harm, and he was able to do all the chores about the house and read without the aid of glasses.

He leaves his brother and sister already mentioned and has a grandson, Frank Welch, who graduated from Yale Law school this year.

Others of his family have also reached a good old age, a sister dying at the age of 93, a brother at the age of 90, and he has a brother in Ireland who is 85.

CLAYTON PARKHURST.

His Sister, Mrs. Thompson, Located in Danbury, and Burial Will Be in Hartford.

On Tuesday Church & Allen learned that Clayton Parkhurst, who committed suicide in the harbor here last night, has a sister, Mrs. Thompson, in Danbury. She was communicated with and if arrangements can be perfected in Hartford the remains will be sent to that city this morning for burial.

WORTH AND CHARACTER OF NORWICH HISTORY MAKERS

Supt. Stanton Believes Independence Day Should Be Marked by Pageants, Athletic Contests and Festivals.

In his annual report to the West Chelsea school board Supt. J. B. Stanton said after reference to the pageant at the 250th anniversary celebration: The problem of suitable celebration of the Fourth of July is one which has been solved. It may not be primarily a school problem, but a question that concerns the welfare of our children cannot be totally ignored by school authorities. It seems to me that pageants similar to that given this year, together with athletic contests and festivals might be substituted for some of the noise and confusion that have come to characterize this day. Such a change would tend to increase civic pride, patriotism and our appreciation of the work of the men of the past. Norwich certainly has reason to be proud of her history, and her children should know this history, which speaks so loudly of courage, loyalty, self-sacrifice and devotion to duty; and Independence day ought not to be allowed to pass without some exercises that may help the children to appreciate the worth, the work and the character of those men who made the early history of Norwich.
